

Help keep your retirement plans on track

Like most significant life events, retirement is both a destination and a journey. The path to life after work is paved with milestones. Achieving them will have a major impact on how you live in retirement.

Use this retirement timeline to mark some of those milestones. It's a helpful tool to use as you work with your financial professional to develop a retirement income strategy.

AGE 50

Increase retirement savings

Subject to IRS guidelines, and if permitted by your 401(k) or profit sharing plan, when you reach age 50 you can begin making additional "catch up" contributions to your plan up to an annual maximum.<sup>1</sup>

AGE 55

Penalty-free 401(k) zone

In most cases, you will incur a 10 percent penalty on withdrawals from your retirement plan before age 59½. However, if you separate from service during or after the year you reach age 55, that penalty may be waived for some plans such as a 401(k).<sup>2</sup>

AGE 59½

Penalty-free IRA zone

Once you hit this half birthday, you may take Individual Retirement Account (IRA) withdrawals without a tax penalty. Traditional IRA withdrawals will be taxed as income. Roth IRA distributions will be tax-free if the Roth IRA has been held for at least five years.<sup>3</sup>

AGE 62

Social Security eligibility begins

At age 62, you may become eligible for Social Security benefits. Keep in mind, however, that your benefits are reduced by a fraction of a percent for each month before your full retirement age which varies depending on your birth year.<sup>4</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Age 50 for qualified public safety employees of a state, or political subdivision of a state, in a governmental defined benefit plan. Income tax will apply to plan distributions. This rule does not apply to IRA, SEP, SIMPLE IRA and SARSEP Plans. <sup>8</sup> Percentages are approximate due to rounding.

<sup>9</sup> The maximum benefit for the spouse is 50% of the benefit the worker would receive at full retirement age. The % reduction for the spouse should be applied after the automatic 50% reduction. Percentages are approximate due to rounding.

AGE 65

Medicare eligibility begins

Medicare is federal health insurance for people 65 or older and for those under 65 with certain disabilities. For complete rules and regulations, please visit www.medicare.gov.

AGE 70

Maximum Social Security benefits

If you delay claiming Social Security benefits, until after your full retirement age, you may be eligible for increased payments. After age 70, however, there is no additional incentive for delaying benefits.

AGE 72*

Required minimum distributions begin<sup>10</sup>

At this age, you must start taking your annual required minimum distributions (RMDs) from most tax qualified retirement accounts. Although you may withdraw more than the RMD, you cannot withdraw less. Keep in mind that all withdrawals, including RMDs, may be taxed as ordinary income.

Medical insurance: a common obstacle for early retirees

Interested in retiring early? You may have wondered how you're going to pay for health insurance, which is one of the biggest expenses facing early retirees.

Early retirees may have an option for individual medical coverage through state or federal healthcare exchanges if their employer does not offer retiree health insurance. While you can't be turned down or charged more for health reasons, premiums may be costly. You may, however, be eligible for premium subsidies. For complete rules and regulations, visit www.healthcare.gov. You may also want to consider a guaranteed income vehicle, such as an annuity, to help address these expenses when building a retirement income strategy.

<sup>10</sup> Required Minimum Distribution (RMD) as defined by Internal Revenue Code Section 401(a)(9). The IRS requires individuals to take a required minimum distribution (RMD) each year once you reach age 72. The deadline for taking RMDs is December 31 of each year. You may delay taking your first RMD (and only your first) until April 1 of the year after you reach the required beginning age. If you choose to delay your first RMD, you'll have to take your first and second RMD in the same tax year. If an IRA owner fails to withdraw the RMD, fails to withdraw the full amount of the RMD, or fails to withdraw the RMD by the applicable deadline, the amount not withdrawn is taxed at 50%. The required beginning age is 70½ for those reaching 70½ in 2019 or earlier. For those who did not reach 70½ in 2019 or earlier, the required beginning age is 72.

Under current tax law, the Internal Revenue Code already provides tax deferral to qualified money, so there is no additional tax benefit obtained by funding a qualified contract, such as an IRA, with an annuity; consider the other benefits provided by an annuity, such as lifetime income and a Death Benefit.
